

Subject: : Swap Forum

Topic: : Looking for kid's chest waders

Re: Looking for kid's chest waders

Author: : PhillyFlyGuy

Date: : 2013/4/8 21:34:31

URL:

Was gonna recommend the oakiwear too. Actually ordered a pair for my 2 1/2 year old this year. Not so much for her to actually stand and wade in the water because she's still a little young, (although she has been testing me to see how far I'll let her in), but more for my sake. She stays dry and warm and when were done I just take them off and no muddy shoes or pants. Their not cheap but definitely worth the money. Well constructed and durable. Also anyone with kids knows that keeping a kid comfortable is half the battle with getting them interested in a sport like this. Once their cold or wet you can forget it.