

---

Subject: : Stream Reports

Topic: : Yellow Breeches Creek, Cumberland County, 04/07/2013

Re: Yellow Breeches Creek, Cumberland County, 04/07/2013

Author: : troutbert

Date: : 2013/4/9 9:07:45

URL:

Quote:

Maurice wrote:

Started at the Messiah College area for a coupla hours, caddis and a few hendricksons on the water in the early afternoon. Turned a few using soft hackles. only a few rises. Stopped at McCormick Road on the way home and experienced a blizzard hatch of caddis with a pretty good hendricksons too. Fish were on the mayflies for an hour or so. I touched one but hooked and lost many and missed more. Need to sharpen the skills a little on holding onto those buggers.

A great start to dry fly season. Fun time!

Water temp was 55.6 degrees in both places.

A while back we had a thread on whether the hatches would run late or on time this year. Do these hatches, Hendricksons and caddis (Grannoms?) on the Breeches seem early, late or normal to you?