I have fished the Breeches for many years and believe they are on time. The last few years were very early. I used to keep track (journal) for almost 30 years but have recently discontinued the practice. Also Hendricksons disappeared from the Breeches for around 20 years. But lately they have been a very good hatch along with Grannoms. Also we used to get Callabatis hatches on Boilingsprings lake. They have all but disappeared. I can not believe draining the lake is a accepted practice on a yearly basis.
