I'm fortunate enough to come into a cabin. Our family purchased the land in Potter in the 40s, finished building it in the 50s, is chartered w/ the state as a hunting club (only family members can be members), and we all pay about $100 a year. That, plus donations from guests and stuff, usually covers our expenses. Plus, our family is pretty big and we have a lot of fix-it guys, so if stuff breaks, repairs aren't as bad as it would be if you had to pay someone to do it. We have two work weekends a year, and every now and again we have to all pay a little extra to do a big repair (replaced the oil furnace w/ gas this year, I think each member had to come up w/ an extra $30 or something. Last year we had to have a tree guy come and take down a tree that could have fallen on the cabin, stuff like that).

We aren't along a trout stream....but there are about a dozen w/in 20 minutes!
