Osprey, you know better than I there has been a more or less constant debate and shifting of boundaries for the ATW and stocking points. It has been a while for me, but I always fished above the stocking points. According to the PFBC website, the entire stream is ATW, however, the most upstream stocking point is the final pulloff going upstream near the monument trail. I have fished Bob's opening day and it will be crowded all down below the final stocking point. If you want stocked fish, you will deal with other anglers. If you want to chase a hatch and some wild fish and very hardy holdovers or migrants, walk in to a point well-above the upper stocking limit.
