Anyone else been out chasing the panfish and bass? I've been going out from 10pm-12am every night to fish for rising stockies and have been pretty successful, but the last two nights have been a blast with rock bass slurping hoppers off the surface. Nothing huge, but still fun.

I stopped at a local pond yesterday and caught about 20 bluegills in half an hour on mini-hoppers, some nice slabs too. Saw some LMB swimming around as well, but all I had on me was my terrestrial box and the werent having it.

Ahh....spring is here.
