alot of people use a over size reel on them...on a sage esn 10' 3 wt alot of people use a 5/6 reel....my access is the lightest 10' rod out there and i used a konic 1.5 which wasnt bad but after along day i could really feel it....now i have put a heavier reel on it and i can tell a big difference....no need to over line it if u bump ur reel size up, you would only over/under line it if u wanted to change the action of the rod
