So the other day I was down on big spring creek caught one of the "monsters" a nice 22 incher (if i new how to post a pic from my phone i would). Well all that is besides the point 😊 Eventually after catching up with an old friend in shippensburg I left her in search of different streams in the area and found myself at yellow breeches. I fishing from the childrens lake down to allenberry and caught an awesome brookie and a brown. My 2 questions are does the yellow breeches get to warm in the summer or is it a good temp all year. My other question is do you think that the brook was wild or do they stock the stream. thanks
