I tested this theory last night. Went to the EB of the Brandywine after work to a notorious meat hunter spot in the open water. I followed worm dunkers and spinner guys thru the stretch with a Big BHPT on point and a smaller unweighted GRHE on the dropper. I saw one guy walk out with one on a stringer. I caught 5 alone in one run that was fished over. Probably 8 or so overall in the short time I hit that stretch.

Myth confirmed
