

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Pine/Kettle creek magic?

Pine/Kettle creek magic?

Author: : Squaretail

Date: : 2013/4/12 12:08:11

URL:

I just never caught the love for the fishing up there like so many other posters.

The surroundings are indeed beautiful, the hatches were prolific. But the fish left alot to be desired. Every one was a stockie and half with missing mandables and poachers leaving with 20 inch fish out of the regs area in broad daylight.

What is the magic besides the beauty? Is there any or does what I seek rely solely in Slate and Cedar runs?

Pine and Kettle boosters please unite and reply. 😊