

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Pine/Kettle creek magic?

Re: Pine/Kettle creek magic?

Author: : dryflyguy

Date: : 2013/4/12 12:22:18

URL:

I learned to fly fish on kettle/pine creeks, and have some fondness for the area. And I really doubt that there is a more scenic place in the state to fish.

But yeah, I agree about the fish. The limestone streams and delaware river have a lot more to offer in the way of large wild trout.

I rarely get up that way anymore, but it still is a nice place to get away from things and relax. Guess it all depends on what a person's priorities are.