

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Pine/Kettle creek magic?

Re: Pine/Kettle creek magic?

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2013/4/12 19:04:52

URL:

Pine/Kettle - while they have good wild trout fishing in their upper sections - are probably better known (and more heavily fished) in their stocked sections. Having given it some thought, I think much of the appeal of these streams is comparable to the Catskills. Sure, they're stockies but the rivers and landscape are gorgeous and the dry fly fishing is the main draw.