Mike they will catch fish . Just remember fish don't own rulers or micrometers and they can't count tails or measure abdomens as long as you have good clearance on the hook gap your golden. Presentation is key

Love when you talk about measurement. Seems so appropriate coming from you that size does not matter. 😊

Also, I agree with Fredrick in regards that they will catch fish. However, if you want to be a better tyer, you really need to work on your proportions. Not all fish are dumb and not all buyers will be unknowledgeable or new fly fishermen that do not know what a good tie looks like. If they were just for yourself I couldn't care less, but other people are purchasing these. Just some helpful advice.
