It's not a specific model I'm talking about. I've had an I'M6 break back in the 80's. It was my first graphite rod. I've also had a LSI, FT+ and PT models break. The ft was a great casting rod. Jdaddy watched me string the rod, pull line out and the top foot broke off. Not good. I've returned all rods bought there at least once. Haven't gotten one from them in a while. That L-tech looks / feels great. Just afraid to buy it.
