Ok, update for anyone joining us. Looks like we will have guys showing up Saturday May 4th. Not sure if we'll get any fishing in the first day. I think we will have some others in early in the week and then different guys later in the week. We even have picked up some locals to join the group, guys from nj, long island and con. Flows look great and are helpful keep the water temps down for now. Barring freakish weather, we should hit the hatches pretty good. Make sure you have caddis & rusty spinners. Jason....leave your home pool and tag along for 2 days. If you don't have fun, I'll be amazed.

Spot still reserved for Dave K.
