If you buy into a cabin with a friend or relatives make sure they are people you really want to own a place with. Right now I'm stuck with place that I don't want our have any interest in but we can't agree what to do with it. It doesn't get used enough and will soon need some major upkeep. In 30 years it will probably be one of those places covered with moss and deteriorating and people will wonder why no one cares about it.
