I stopped over to the stream last night and fished primarily down stream from the dam to avoid the crowds, and did not even see a fish. I have seen fish there before but not last night. Also I was talking to a local biologist several months ago who I assume takes part in the sampling of the stream and he even told me that there were not many fish here. So strange because I was fishing some very nice "looking" water, anyone have any idea?

The dam has no fish passage, that I'm aware of. Trout are above the dam.
