I also had my first real day of fly fishing resulting in good numbers; not sure but twenty or better. Despite the fact that it was the Little Lehigh, most of the fish I caught and missed were stream bred browns; way more than I've ever see there in the past, with several year classes represented. In addition it was windy with no big hatches, and almost no risers. Best fish 13"; yeah I got some bigger rainbows but they didn't mean much to me. Got a couple decent pix; apologies if you already saw them:
