

Subject: : Stream Reports

Topic: : Valley Creek, chester co., 4/11

Re: Valley Creek, chester co., 4/11

Author: : wvuandy1

Date: : 2013/4/15 22:54:05

URL:

Dubthethorax: that's awesome! I had to take off around 1 o'clock just as the water was boiling Sunday. Anyone fishing 2-5 Sunday late afternoon had to have the same kind of experience you mentioned. I was so pumped to see and experience my firsts caddis hatch. The wife started texting and a lot of you guys know what that can do to a perfect day. ;(

Note: I noticed for the first time ever (on VC) two dead trout floating or sunk in the water. I know the community on this site understands how important it is to revive the fish and get them back in unharmed in a timely manor but fear there still are many who do not understand the proper tactics to catch and release.