

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Leader Observations

Re: Leader Observations

Author: : PennKev

Date: : 2013/4/16 7:24:47

URL:

Quote:

BelAirSteve wrote:

I knew I was a little less patient, but my mechanics and processes were the same, so I was a little puzzled about it.

Sound like you were expectign to just show up and start catching fish. When that happens to me I usually don't do well. Even if it seems like you were doing everything right, you probably were not doing it as well as when you had better focus. I also find myself thinking less and getting lazy in making adjustments to my rigging and technique when I get into one of these phases.

Your brand of tippet wasn't a factor, but perhpas just changing it up a little caused you to start concentrating more.

Spring time is also easier fishing than late in the year.

Kev