I have posted a similar response on these boards before, so I won't go on and on - but as others have said - you will remember that, and you should! If you are the type to document your milestones, do it, even if it is in a post here at paflyfish.

I remember all of my firsts - on a streamer, on a nymph, on a dry, etc. Now the next step is on flies you tied yourself! If you haven't started tying, watch out! It just gets better!

Well done.
