Not sure how practical, but my patagonia rain jacket has a plastic clip behind the neck for attaching nets to(i use the orvis magnet bungee cord thing). What about the fishing shirts that have the tag on the back? Would that work? I believe they used to be called "fag tags". I literally have no idea how they got that name, but maybe that will illustrate the tag im talking about. For this reason--and being about to carry water--I switched to a fish pond wasatch vest with a clip on the back. I am never without a net. Typically never without water too.
