

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Grass Casting

Re: Grass Casting

Author: : PoconoPaul

Date: : 2013/4/19 16:55:46

URL:

Quote:

YoughnessMonster wrote:

Was wondering what kind of effect practicing to cast in the yard has on your fly line.

I've always practiced casting in a pond but its more convenient to do in the yard.

Generally speaking a good base of grass shouldn't have an adverse effects on your line. If your ground is rocky, rough et al it can do some damage. I typically practice on my lawn, however I keep a couple of spare reels with line from several years ago that I use for practice that I clean to keep in decent shape periodically after so many practice sessions.