I'd have to believe that the majority of sales for these models will be based on hype, "gotta have it" and / or having a stick that nobody else has.

I'm an admitted gear head. With that said, I don't get caught up in hype or trying to keep up with the Jones. There are many $300 rods that perform as good as or better than $700 rods. With more expensive rods you get name and usually some better hardware or better finish. All depends what you are looking for but I'd have to believe this rod will end up as the biggest turd TFO has ever laid
