I second what bikerfish observed, fished it yesterday and today, it was up for sure but very fishable and wadeable with a staff. Jonas told me when i got there thurs only to wade it if i was a confident wader and had a staff, he was right on the money

Its done for the weekend now though, left and drove home when it started raining hard earlier this evening, looked at the gauge when i got home, its flowing double what it was earlier today and it was already getting muddy before i left there around 530 after only a half hour of pretty decent rain
