

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Shad fishing

Re: Shad fishing

Author: : addictedangler

Date: : 2013/4/20 16:48:14

URL:

Yes I am aware of the regulations and have written articles on them in the past. One thing that seems strange is that NOAA started the federal registration and made or perhaps let the states opt out by letting them include it in there Saltwater licensing. But now Md says you have to have a Md registration. The federal NOAA is not Valid. Also I am assuming you understand fishing Deer creek requires a Md fresh water license and the state says you do not need any registration. However in my first conversations with NOAA they wanted all migratory fishermen to have it. I fish in Pa., Virginia, and DC and they all have different migratory requirements. I guess my point is it does not have to be this complicated for fishermen who fish for them in different states.