

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Eggs?

Re: Eggs?

Author: : tulenkot

Date: : 2013/4/21 8:18:33

URL:

I caught a fat 18 inch rainbow friday morning in the deep run below the kiddie pool at the Little Lehigh. When I netted it, the net was full of eggs. He was obviously an escapee from the hatchery, so I originally assumed the fish had been eating sucker spawn. However, after looking at the pics from the sucker spawn thread, these were not yellow like the sucker spawn eggs. They were more of a clear but cloudy biege consistency. Maybe the rainbow was attempting to spawn?