I want to get a rod and reel to use for salmon in NY maybe this fall. I don't want to go crazy money wise since I might only do this a few times a year and I like the prices of 2 of the rod and reel combos at Cabelas. I am looking at the Cabela's LSi/RLS+ Fly Combo in a 9'9" 8 wt and the Echo Ion/Cabela's RLS+ Fly Combo 10' 8 wt. Could I possibly use these rods for smallies too or no? Just wondered what anyone's opinions of these rod/reel combos were. I know some don't like Cabelas rods but I'm looking for affordability and half decent quality that will withstand a salmon.
