Thanks for all the help. As long as I've been fishing (not very long) the knot tying has been the hardest thing for me to pick up. Tying flies... sure i'm getting the hang of it. Whip finishing them.. yeah still not great at it. And anything besides a clinch knot i'm horrible at... guess I just have to work at it. Anyways, thanks for the help, hopefully this snow will let up so I can go knock the dust off of my rod!
