I fished the upper reaches on Saturday, and I also didn't catch what I expected, I think the weather may have put the fish in a sulking, pouty mood, the front coming through and the rain and such. it's a beautiful creek, and I'm lucky to be friends with the guy that owns the land on the lower section at pennis, but I enjoy fishing the upper sections better. and yes, it does get a lot of pressure, which is no surprise when the road follows it for 3/4 of its length. thanks for the great pics!
