

---

Subject: : Fly Fishing Events and Meet-ups

Topic: : Catskills Chaos early May 2013

Re: Catskills Chaos early May 2013

Author: : krayfish

Date: : 2013/4/22 21:07:53

URL:

To the best of my knowledge, alby and bruno will be there up until the 5th or 6th. I believe DaveS, Josh, New Jersey Tom and myself should be there on Saturday the 4th. Big Frank from Long Island should roll in on Sunday, I expect to see Scott from Connecticut for 1-2 days. Mike from over by Kingston NY will be by some time during the week, Brandon, the guide lives right there so I imagine he'll fish when not booked with trips. Wsender is coming down at some point. Wbranch, yourself and your buddy. Becker will be by Friday. We may also see PhilC and / or beeber. I'm guessing we'll have 4-8 guys at any given time. Some days will have a few more or a few less.

With 80+ miles of water to fish, we'll split into groups and hit different sections (upper WB, lower WB, upper EB, lower EB, main stem, Beaverkill, Nevetsink, etc). Everything depends on flows, temps and bug activity. We learned our lesson with a 10 pontoon cluster F. We try to keep the group sizes small to medium. There are streamer guys, dry only guys, nymph guys and guys like myself that will fish any way needed to bring them to net. Like minded guys tend to pair up.