

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Rowing a pontoon vs. Drift boat

Re: Rowing a pontoon vs. Drift boat

Author: : Stimey

Date: : 2013/4/23 10:34:14

URL:

Krayfish,

Are you guys doing a "jam" in May up on west branch, must have missed it.... funny thing is I have a trip booked (staying at west branch angler) from may 7 to the 11th will have to try and meet up.

Anyway, did my Maiden Toon float on the west branch on Saturday 4/20. Put in at hale eddy and took out at Balls Eddy. Water didn't get too high fromt the T-storm friday night, but was off color. Chucked streamers and only managed one brown... but it was a nice one in the 16-17 inch range and fat like a football. Got it on a olive sculpin. Caught down in the mud flats.

I really liked the toon, more manuverable than my dad's hyde. Luckily the wind was blowing down stream most of the day, but I can see how this would be a problem in upstream. Not real great to fish out of but it works. Can really see how it will be an advantage in lowere water to get from point A to B.