Knock on wood but I've only had close calls. I don't consider myself a real aggressive wader and don't mess with deeper water that has a lot of current. Not afraid of drowning as much as I am that one of these days I'm just going to have a nasty fall due to a slip or trip and end up with a broken bone, bad sprain or something. I use a staff on larger water like Penns Creek. Replace my cleats when they wear down too.
