Bug eggs, fish eggs, bugs, fish.

The spinner is the spent, dead or dying end of the bug's life. Usually ended by the process of laying eggs (Females anyway). Grannoms are the perfect example. So fishing the spinnerfall is toward the end of the life cycle (pretty soon time to think trico spinners....fish eggs (in SEPA more likely sucker spawn this time of year) can be pretty effective....

I recently got to spend a fair bit of time learning buggy stuff with D_Dog, Fox and Herit-aged Angler...all three are a wealth of knowledge and just fun to fish with.....thanks Gents!
