

---

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Furled Leaders

Re: Furled Leaders

Author: : Pittflyguy

Date: : 2013/4/24 10:24:09

URL:

Very different than a braided leader. Furled are great for turning over larger flies... if you are looking for a delicate presentation for things like small dries I'd say it's the wrong tool for the job. I use them often. The one caution I would throw is that if you are fishing waters with lots of algae and such they tend to "collect" goop in the leader probably more so than a tapered mono leader would. IMHO.