I would like to ammend this title. I decided with my recent stocky luck to fish on Bald Eagle Creek in Centre County yesterday, to correspond with the stockings. The first time I have fished it in about 5-6 years. Not a single hit in 3 hours. I walked to Spring Creek and caught 5 in 15 minutes as it got dark. 10 of those minutes were spent untangling my three nymph mess catching 4th one created. So in order to change my Karma, I would like to name this: The smartest fish in the world are dropped off by big white trucks.
