Always have a landing net.

When fighting the fish, as he gets closer and tries to run, fight him with your rod low and to the side - swing your rod so you are pulling him the opposite direction that he's trying swim. As he turns, then swing your rod to the opposite side. This is how tarpon guys "break" a big fish - by constantly turning his head. It works on small stream fish like trout and bass as well.

And don't forget the net.
