

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Grannom Larvae

Re: Grannom Larvae

Author: : wbranch

Date: : 2013/4/27 17:31:49

URL:

CLSports,

" but I might want to add to your argument that using barbless hooks will allow you to not even handle the fish at all."

Yes, I would agree that this is often true. I do though like to see, and admire, the larger fish that I'm fortunate enough to land. I have a Brodin "Ghost" net with a very large opening. The clear rubber bag material is said to be much more gentle on the fish and does not remove the mucous on the fish's skin.

Attach file:

 Brown & Brodin.JPG (74.27 KB)

