

Subject: : Fly Fishing Events and Meet-ups

Topic: : The Official Quill Gordon Recap

Re: The Official Quill Gordon Recap

Author: : wsender

Date: : 2013/4/29 10:10:56

URL:

Quote:

The_Sasquatch wrote:

And so it was, that we embarked on one of the greatest skunkings in fly fishing history. We drove down to Tiadaghton. The caddis were flyin, the Hendricksons were coming out, (see Csoult's blog), but NO fish were rising.

Understatement of the trip. That day had easily one of the best caddis hatches I have ever seen. The morning was had sporadic caddis activity, but from about 2 or 3 until we left there was just constant, thick, caddis activity. There were points that looking up into the sky that it looks like a thick blanket of snow. The whole time, there was zero fish activity. Very bizarre.