I was fishing with my friend at a DALO this weekend, he is up for a week from NC. He moved to there earlier this year, well he still has his residential license purchased earlier this year, but his plate on his car was registered in NC. Well in a downpour of course the fish commission pulls in and BS's with us making small talk he then asks whose Jeep that is. He says mine. Fish cop says come on over he explains what was his story, and the fish cop says "your fishing with an invalid license!" well after threatening to take him to jail and to take his vehicle and gear they somehow end up talking about fishing in NC and how PA used to receive their fish from there, my buddy thought he was gonna get let go with a warning. Nope no dice. So out of all the poaching I see on this local stream don't they have something better to do than to dig for this out of someone who did this? I mean he gave them 38$ now he has to give them the fine and buy a tourist license the rest of the week to fish. I just find that completely ignorant and very unfortunate that that is how a good day turned out.
