

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Large (Dead) Brookies

Re: Large (Dead) Brookies

Author: : tulenkot

Date: : 2013/4/29 20:34:29

URL:

Quote:

tulenkot wrote: Quote: Native brook trout 12 inches and over exist in PA, but they are quite rare. I don't think brook trout over 12 inches are rare in PA. What is your reason for thinking this?

Big Spring an BFC are good examples. As far as free stone is concerned, large creeks and rivers that have colder tribs do have pops of larger brookies that swim in and out of the tribs as temperature dictates. Pine comes to mind. They are just difficult to target. Rare to catch I would say.