After all, one of the first things a beginner FFer who starts reading this forum sees are the multi-page tirades about stocking and how we need to stop doing this over wild fish.

I dont get it eigher. I have been fishing the same local stream's for over 30 years. They have sections that are stocked and other sections that are not. I still catch alot of wild browns in the stocked sections. So what is the problem??? Stocked fish eating wild fish??? Stocked fish competing with wild fish for food???

Good luck, Tony
