Thanks for the tip. I will try larger beads and I don't have larger gauge wire, but I can get that pretty easily.

Funny you mention about the bows...I bet 80% of the fish I have caught on this pattern are rainbows. To me this pattern kinda looks like the little green flies that bug the crap out of you during cookouts.

I have so much to learn! When I started fly fishing I didn't realize that certain species prefer certain things. It's not just flicking buggy looking things down a stream :)

I need to start keeping a notebook or something. Glad I joined this site, there is really helpful info here. Thanks
