Sounds to me that the WCO was a total tool, on a power trip, with a gun and a badge, just like all the guys who carry guns and badges are.

You learned a valuable lesson today and that is that guys with guns and badges are tools, remember it, its a valuable life lesson to learn

I have met and also personally know alot of people in law enforcement. They are not "tools", they are honest hard working people who have a tough job to do. A better life lesson would be to follow the law and the "guys who carry guns and badges" will treat you very well.
