The pic doesn't do that fish justice. As soon as I got a glimpse of him I immediately thought 20 incher, and he fought like one, but once I got him in the net I was disappointed at the actual size. Looked bigger in the water. I've caught a couple pretty nice sized holdovers in Neshannock, even bigger than the one in the pic, but this fish was clearly stocked that size. One of my better trout(excluding steelhead) of the year so far so I can't complain! Those bows they stock for the lunker stocking sure are fun too. Strong fish, thick too.
