Ive been fly fishing for a couple years but really started seriously this season. Full of determination i hit the stream 4-5 times a week. Ive caught 3 fish since late march til tonight. Im fishing the little lehigh because it seems this is the stream i get the most fly advice on.

I cant seem to figure this thing out. Is there anyone who would be willing to "baby sit" me on the little lehigh for a while? I understand how frustrating it could be to watch a noob scare fish all day so id be able to pull my weight by working for it.

Please help!
