

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Fryin' up wild browns

Re: Fryin' up wild browns

Author: : The_Sasquatch

Date: : 2013/5/1 10:01:16

URL:

The lake is a popular spot for tourists and locals to fish for trout. I have no problem w/ them stocking the bows. Sure some come up from the lake, but not that far. The stream splits several times just about the lake for about 3/4 of a mile or so. I never caught a bow upstream of all those splits (that doesn't mean anything, I only fished the stream about a dozen times over the last decade so someone with more time put on it may speak differently).

Someone in the know, did they used to stock brownies in the lake? Is that how the browns got into Lyman Run?