Me and NASA haha! In all honesty, I tend to think the brookies will survive, regardless. Those fish have been through hell and back. If anything, we're more aware of their "plight" now and are taking steps to help them. I don't say that to give us a free pass to do whatever we want, environmentally speaking. I say it to encourage us. I honestly think the fishing for my kids will be better than it is for me. I hope so anyway!
