I love the LL as I'm fairly comfortable on that stream, tho depending on the day, my success varies.

Like JT said, I'm in the "are" category but even when I'm alone, most anglers seem to love give advise. Also, considering that most of the newbie brush ups are on the LL (seems to be our trend) make it ur bidnezz to get ur arse to the next one when it's scheduled. 😊

Much of the time the experienced guys on this board don't even take their rods on the h2o and basically shadow u and give tons of advice and corrections. It also ends up being a really good time getting together with friends and introducing new ones from the board.

Next time I head up there I'll pm ya and maybe we can hook up.
