

Subject: : Fly Fishing Events and Meet-ups

Topic: : Catskills Chaos early May 2013

Re: Catskills Chaos early May 2013

Author: : afishinado

Date: : 2013/5/1 11:34:50

URL:

Quote:

Report from the Delaware River Club:

"Yesterday was some of the best dry fly fishing that we have seen this year, with fish up and rising on every river, pretty much in every riffle run and pool for near the entirety of the day. Hendricksons were back on the West Branch, as well as the East, but Apple Caddis were the fly of choice on the Main Stem..."

Lol...come on up and spend your money!

The bugs were there (on the WB, anyway), but not a lot of risers because of the temp drop (IMHO). If the weather forecast holds and the water warms a bit, I would bet you guys are in for a great weekend of fishing! Good luck to all.